

SuCasa

Southwest Homes

inspiration ideas resources

a High Desert home
captures impeccable views

farmhouse style
in Santa Fe

relaxing respite

If the kitchen is the heart of the home, then a beautiful bathroom is the lungs—where you take a deep breath and relax at the end of the day. Here, we peek inside some inspiring private spaces.

white and bright

When the homeowners decided to remodel their primary bathroom, the wife wanted a spa-like design. "To her, that meant white," says interior designer Edy Keeler. To achieve the look, the first order of business was to lighten the ceiling and vigas without losing the warmth the space would need with a crisp, white palette. Next, Keeler specified a combination of polished and matte Porcelanosa tile to have the bold look of marble without the maintenance. Warm taupe Silestone countertops with waterfall ends wrap the white lacquered cabinets with push latches to achieve a sleek, seamless look. Vessel sinks with polished chrome single-lever faucets add to the fresh atmosphere. Keeler removed the existing bathtub to give the couple an oversized steam shower. Elegant lighting and a makeup counter complete the spa-like space.

Builder: Tierra Concepts; Interior Design: Edy Keeler Interiors; Tile: Porcelanosa; Countertops: Silestone; Fixtures and sinks: Kohler.

